

Week 7: Photography, Videography, & Production (08/19/2019 to 08/23/2019)

Represented by House Team: The Olympians

The most obvious example of mechatronics is Ironman! So, yes, it is as exciting as it sounds. Admittedly, while the participants will not learn to build their own Ironman suits, they may become inspired enough to pursue this field of inquiry into the future when they may in fact find themselves do just that! Mechatronics is the combination of mechanics and electronics to create tools that help us accomplish tasks. It is the knowledge required to inventing anything that relies on the combination of these two fields.
